

act TODAY to create the world you want to live in TOMORROW

This February, students from more than 600 colleges and universities across the country will come together to launch the Raise Your Voice campaign—a national effort to increase student involvement in public life.

The campaign will unleash the voices and power of college students to begin conversations, address issues, and create solutions for the challenges facing our democracy.

Visit www.actionforchange.org to find out how you can be a part of the Raise Your Voice campaign.

The Raise Your Voice campaign, coordinated by Campus Compact, with support from The Pew Charitable Trusts, will be launched during Raise Your Voice—A Week of Action, February 16–22, 2003.
